The Honorable Kay Granger Ranking Member United States House of Representative Committee on Appropriations Washington, DC 20515

Dear Chairman Leahy, Chairwoman DeLauro, Vice Chairman Shelby, and Ranking Member Granger:

On behalf of the 60 undersigned organizations representing the Nursing Community Coalition (NCC), and as you continue the appropriations process ahead of the February deadline, we respectfully request that you support the funding levels included in the House-passed minibus of at least $314.472 million for Nursing Workforce Development Programs (Title VIII of the Public Health Service Act [42 U.S.C. 296 et seq.]) and at least $200.782 million for the National Institute of Nursing Research (NINR, National Institutes of Health) in Fiscal Year (FY) 2022. Immediate action to fund these programs in FY 2022 is imperative, as a long-term continuing resolution creates uncertainty that would directly impact our nursing students, scientists, and practitioners, especially as we work to address the ongoing realities of COVID-19. We appreciate Congress' strong commitment to nursing education, workforce, and research and urge you to make necessary increases to Title VIII Nursing Workforce Development Programs and NINR funding in FY 2022.

The Nursing Community Coalition is a cross section of education, practice, research, and regulation within the nursing profession representing Registered Nurses (RNs), Advanced Practice Registered Nurses (APRNs), nurse leaders, students, faculty, and researchers. With more than four million nurses throughout the country, the NCC is committed to advancing the health of our nation through the nursing lens. The nursing workforce is involved at every point of care, which is exemplified by nurses' heroic work during the COVID-19 pandemic.

As we continue to confront today's health care challenges and plan for tomorrow, increased federal resources for our nation's current and future nurses are even more imperative. Title VIII programs are instrumental in bolstering and sustaining the nation's diverse nursing pipeline by addressing all aspects of nursing workforce demand. In fact, the Bureau of Labor Statistics projected that by 2030 demand for RNs would increase 9%, illustrating an employment change of 276,800 nurses.³ Further, the demand for most APRNs is expected to grow by 45%.⁴ This is just one example on why continued and elevated investments in Title VIII Nursing Workforce Development Programs in FY 2022 is essential and will help nurses and nursing students have the resources to tackle our nation's health care needs, remain on the frontlines of the COVID-19 pandemic, and be prepared for the public health challenges of the future.

Now more than ever, we have witnessed the importance of science in the discussion of cures and preparedness. As one of the 27 Institutes and Centers at the National Institutes of Health, NINR's research is aimed at reducing burdensome chronic illness, improving end of life care, addressing social determinants of health, and promoting patient-centered care across the life continuum. Our nation's nurse researchers and scientists are essential to developing new evidence-based practices to care for all patients. Through increased investments in NINR, they will be able to continue their vital work at the forefront of disease prevention, patient care, and recovery.

During this unprecedented public health emergency, and as you work to finalize FY 2022 spending bills, we urge you to support at least $314.472 million for Title VIII Nursing Workforce Development Programs and at least $200.782 million for the National Institute of Nursing Research in FY 2022. We appreciate your commitment to safeguard the public's well-being by putting forward bold investments for these critical programs. If our organizations can be of any assistance, or if you have any questions, please contact the Nursing Community Coalition's Executive Director, Rachel Stevenson, at rstevenson@thenursingcommunity.org or at 202-463-6930, ext. 271.
